

Board of Directors Roles and Responsibilities

1 Overview

CAWS was founded and built upon our devotion to the animals in need within our community and surrounding communities and is the oldest foster-based rescue organization in Utah. We are a no-kill, volunteer-powered-501(c)3 nonprofit animal welfare organization whose mission is “Working with the Community to Help Animals.” To accomplish this mission-to help as many animals in the community and surrounding communities as possible CAWS employs the following programs:

- Rescue and adoptions
- Lifetime commitment to all of our animals,
- Community cat Trap-Neuter-Return team
- Medical & spay/neuter cost assistance to keep pets in their current homes
- Transports from surrounding communities
- Ongoing efforts to find new ways to advocate for the underserved animals & their humans in our community and surrounding communities.

The CAWS Board of Directors is responsible for governing CAWS and focusing upon the mission, legacy, strategy, and goals of the organization. This includes oversight in four main areas: legal, financial, management, and program.

This document provides an overview of expectations and responsibilities for the CAWS Board of Directors and Officers.

3 Board Member Responsibilities

Members of the Board of Directors are responsible for the mission, strategy, and goals of CAWS. The four main areas of oversight can be further detailed with multiple responsibilities.

1. Legal Oversight

- a. The board ensures legal and ethical integrity and maintains accountability.
- b. The board is ultimately responsible for ensuring that CAWS adheres to legal and ethical standards. The board establishes and enforces policies that adhere to laws and the bylaws.

2. Financial Oversight

- a. The board provides financial oversight for CAWS. This includes setting and approving the annual budget and ensuring proper accounting. Fiduciary responsibility for CAWS is a primary legal responsibility for the board under federal and state laws.
- b. The board ensures and provides adequate resources for CAWS-volunteers to fulfill CAWS's mission, including fundraising, monitoring expenses and maintaining adequate liability insurance. CAWS does not currently have any paid staff, all positions are volunteer.

3. Management Oversight

- a. The board is responsible for ensuring that the nonprofit organization is being run well, ethically, and fulfilling its responsibility to the community.

4. Program Oversight

- a. The board is responsible for defining the organization's mission and purpose. Members of the board understand and support the mission statement.
- b. The CAWS board is currently an operational board as well as a governance board. That means that the board also guides CAWS' operational leadership staff and volunteers in defining, monitoring, and strengthening CAWS's programs and services.
- c. Each individual on the board must actively participate with volunteers, fosters, and committee members in overall planning and assist in implementing the plan's goals.
- d. The board works to preserve and enhance CAWS' reputation and standing with the public, volunteers, adopters, and among the larger animal welfare community in Utah, as well as nationally.

The CAWS board meets on a regular basis, generally monthly, throughout the year. The meeting format changes and can either occur in person or virtually. In addition to board governance and operations duties, many members also regularly volunteer with the organization in day-to-day program areas such as fostering, adoptions, community cats, fundraising, and event planning. As a volunteer-powered organization, CAWS prides itself in its grassroots, can-do, collaborative, community-focused culture. CAWS volunteers feel great allegiance and commitment to the mission, organization, people, and animals we serve.

4 Officer-Specific Responsibilities

Some members of the board are asked to serve in additional leadership and/or officer positions on the board. Non-profit corporations are required by law to have a minimum of 3 officer positions: President, Treasurer, and Secretary. Boards may add additional officers at their discretion.

According to the current CAWS Bylaws (2016), "Subject to the control of the Board of Directors, the officers of the Board shall have such authority and perform such duties as usually pertain to their respective offices and such additional powers and duties specifically conferred by law, by the Articles of Incorporation, by these Bylaws, or as may be assigned to them from time to time by the Board of Directors."

4.1 President of the Board of Directors

"The President shall preside at all meetings of the Board of Directors or shall delegate such responsibility to another officer or director in case of absence." - CAWS Bylaws 2016

As a partner to the other board members, the Board President will provide leadership to CAWS overall, and will support and sustain the work of CAWS, providing governance, leadership, strategic direction, and appropriate fundraising support. Specific responsibilities include:

- Developing and managing relationships and communicating with: funders, partners, and other stakeholders;
- As a board member, approving CAWS' annual budget, audit reports, and material business decisions; being informed of, and meeting all, legal and fiduciary responsibilities;
- Reviewing outcomes and metrics created by CAWS for evaluating its impact, and regularly measuring its performance and effectiveness using those metrics
- Assisting the Board of Directors in recruiting and retaining board members;
- Periodically consulting with board members on their roles and helping them assess their performance;
- Planning, presiding over, and facilitating board and committee meetings and then following up with the team leads ensuring that board resolutions are carried out;
- Acting as an ambassador for the organization;

4.2 Vice President of the Board of Directors

The overall role of the Vice President of the CAWS board is to support the board holistically in conjunction with and in absence of the President.

- Determining board composition and organization;
- Clarifying board and management responsibilities;
- Assisting in planning and managing board and board committee meetings with the President and Secretary;
- Working collaboratively with the President and Treasurer on the annual budget and budget to actuals tracking;
- Assisting the President in completing performance reviews of fellow board members;
- Cultivating the skills and effectiveness of the board.
- Assisting the President with any duties as assigned and delegated.

4.3 Treasurer of the Board of Directors*

The overall role of the Treasurer of the CAWS board is to maintain an overview of (the) CAWS financial affairs, ensuring its viability and ensuring that proper financial records and procedures are maintained.

- Reporting the activities of the organization and future programs to members, the press and the public (unless there is an Information or Publicity Officer).
- Preparing a report of the organization's activities for the year for the annual general meeting.

5 Committee Chair Responsibilities

In order to fulfill the responsibilities of the CAWS Board of Directors, the board may create committees to focus on particular topics or projects. Individual board members will be tasked with serving on and coordinating any such committees. Each committee that has, and exercises, the authority of the Board of Directors to the extent allowed in statute and as provided by the Board.

Future committees may include:

- Executive Committee
- Financial Management Committee
- Fundraising Committee
- Information Technology Committee
- Community Outreach Committee

6 Advisory Board

The CAWS Board of Directors expects to form an advisory board in the future. Members of this advisory board would meet with the leadership of the CAWS Board to promote collaboration and address specific needs that CAWS has that the Board of Directors feels that these members could weigh in on due to their specific skill-sets. Examples of advisory board members include: veterinarians, lawyers, coalition members, etc.
